

CC&N: At Your Service

CC&N is proud to offer cutting-edge, full-service communications technology solutions to a growing group of highly valued clients here in the Midwest and around the nation. We'd be honored to include you among them.

Based in Pewaukee, Wisconsin, our 100 percent employee-owned company is entering its third decade of growth as an award-winning technology communications leader. We provide cabling, data/voice management, remote network monitoring, cell-phone/PDA administration, and building security solutions to customers who demand the highest level of excellence and expertise. We currently have offices in Appleton, Brookfield, Madison and Racine, as well as dedicated teams in place at client sites full-time.

Whether you need a seamless, multi-state project rollout, or a small-scale cell-phone/PDA management plan, we are poised, trained, and ready. CC&N is eager to partner with you to strategize solid, cost-effective solutions for your business – solutions that consider your true technology needs, large and small, long and short term.

"I enjoy working at CC&N because of the people – internal and external. Being an industry leader, CC&N has top-notch customers – And they receive products and services from equally top-notch employees!"
-Annette Maloney, Accounts Receivable

"I love my job because I get to interact with so many different customers, in helping them to set up their call centers. It's always a challenge, always interesting and different."
-Linda Sabatinelli, Call Center Administrator

"It's my daily challenge to successfully support a wide variety of industry professionals, all driven to succeed. My job is a delicate balance of synergy and psychology. I like working with a company like CC&N that truly desires to do great things for its customers – and does. It's very rewarding work."
-Brian Karsten, Data Network Coordinator, onsite at GE Healthcare

WHY CC&N?

- The technology communications business moves fast. That's why our certifications are always current, our technology know-how, research and training always state-of-the-art.
- Need onsite assistance fast? CC&N's 50+ service vehicles are available 24/7. Expert service is a phone-call away. As for equipment, our providers are industry leaders such as Cisco and Nortel, to ensure the most dependable results.
- CC&N believes that when your business is ready to go national, communications logistics shouldn't be an issue. Because of that, we're part of the National Service Alliance, a products & service partnership designed to establish, maintain and support key relationships for multi-location customers. Whether your business is relocating or opening a remote office, CC&N's services will be there to make the transition seamless.
- We offer full-service, one-stop shopping. While our competitors are forced to subcontract portions of their proposed solutions, we are able to perform every aspect of our contracts in house. That means no third parties, no surprise charges.
- CC&N's résumé speaks for itself. We've provided solutions for industry leaders such as Aurora Health Care, American Family, Alliant Energy, Chase, Covenant Health, Wells Fargo, GE Healthcare, and more than 600 additional companies.
